DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1, 3-5, 8, 10-12, 14-16, and 18-23 have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-5, 7-12 and 14-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Peled et al. U.S. Pub. No. 20020129140 (hereinafter Peled).

4. As per claim 1, Peled discloses a computer implemented method comprising: maintaining a plurality of stored signatures, each signature being associated with one of a plurality of registered documents (Peled: [0013]: signature of protected data is stored); intercepting packets being transmitted over a network (Peled: [0055]: the network is a packet network and the transport data monitor enable the signature extractor to extract a signature from a buffered/intercepted batch of packets); reassembling the packets into an intercepted document (Peled: [0055] lines 3-4: buffered batch of packets); calculating a set of signatures associated with the intercepted document (Peled: [0054]-[0056]: extract signature and the signature extractor comprises a binary hash function used to calculate signatures); and comparing the set of signatures associated with the intercepted document with the plurality of stored signatures to determine if the intercepted document contains content associated with a registered document, wherein each registered document is associated with a user that requested registration of the document (Peled: [0020]: comparator; [0011]: protect rightful usage and privacy of users; [0019]: the database of at least one preobtained description of content whose movement it is desired to monitor).

5. As per claim 3, Peled discloses the method of claim 1. Peled further discloses if the comparison results in a match of at least one of the signatures in the set of signatures with one or more of the plurality of stored signatures, then detecting registered content from the registered document being contained in the intercepted document (Peled: [0027]: multilevel description includes signature).

6. As per claim 4, Peled discloses the method of claim 3. Peled further discloses alarming the user that requested registration of the registered document in response to detecting the registered content (Peled: [0092]: taking enforcement action).

7. As per claim 5, Peled discloses the method of claim 3. Peled further discloses halting delivery of the intercepted document (Peled: [0079]).

8. As per claim 7, Peled discloses the method of claim 1. Peled further discloses wherein calculating the set of signatures of the intercepted document comprises calculating a plurality of hashes over one or more portions of the intercepted object (Peled: [0057]: hash).

Art Unit: 2431

9. As per claim 8, 10-12, 14-16, and 18-23, claims 8, 10-12, 14-16, and 18-23 encompass the same scope as claims 1, 3-5 and 7. Therefore, claims 8, 10-12, 14-16, and 18-23 are rejected based on the same reasons set forth above in rejecting claims 1, 3-5 and 7.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Peled in view of Koike U.S. Pub. No. 20030084300 (hereinafter Koike).

12. As per claim 6, 13 and 21, Peled discloses the method of claims 5, 12 and 20 respectively. Peled does not explicitly disclose prompting the user that registered the registered document for permission to deliver the intercepted object, receiving permission from the user, and completing delivery of the intercepted object in response to receiving permission. However, Koike discloses when a privacy data administrator detects a match in the privacy filter, transmit a inquiry to user as to whether it is allowed to provide the data, and provide data upon permission by user (Koike: [0024]). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to allow the owner of the data to determine the action to be performed upon detection of unauthorized transport because both prior art disclose prevention of protected data from unauthorized access. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to combine the teachings of Koike within the system of Peled because it enforces dynamic rules on the user preference.

Response to Arguments

13. Applicant's arguments filed 12/23/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

On the other hand, applicant argues that the prior art of record fails to disclose that each registered document is associated with a user that requested registration of the document. However, the examiner disagrees. Peled discloses the system contains a database that contains pre-obtained description which means that a user is indicating certain contents to be monitored and the content to be monitored is “associated” with the user because the user made the request (Peled: [0011]: protect rightful usage and privacy of users; [0019]: the database of at least one preobtained description of content whose movement it is desired to monitor). Although Peled does not explicitly disclose registering and associating document with user, the database disclosed by Peled would require user to register the content to be protected as well known in the art. Therefore, applicant's argument is traversed.

Conclusion

14. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
